"Kayane is a brilliant player who has managed to establish herself on the eSports scene while conquering the public's heart," stated Yannick Allaert, NACON's Director of Development. "Her expertise in fighting games, her versatility and human qualities have made this collaboration extremely beneficial. After the success of the Revolution Pro Controllers the arrival of the Daija Arcade Stick, in our range of officially licensed PS4™ accessories, is a new challenge for NACON, and Kayane's contributions throughout its design will enable us to once again delight players," he concluded.

Fully optimised to meet the specific needs of the eSports sector, the design and features of the Daija represent an innovative combination of comfort and precision that is great for all fighting titles out now. For the joystick and action buttons, NACON selected the manufacturer SANWA, hailed by many top players for their quality and the ease with which you can customise their components. The Daija also has an LED indicating the player's position, similar to NACON's officially licensed controllers for PS4™, as well as a headset socket for total immersion and ease of communication when playing online.

All of the PlayStation®4 navigation buttons are integrated in the control panel including the touch pad, it also features buttons for selecting the platform (PS4™ and PS3™) and the joystick configuration (Left / Right or directional buttons). Two joystick formats (balltop and battop), two face plate artworks and a screwdriver are included so players can easily customise their arcade stick.
